To make an art impregnated with the scent of Christ, saturated with memories of the past, where the Biblical spirit beats; and that this art be alive, united to the trunk of the traditions; and because it is of the past, that it correspond to the needs of the present - such is my desire.

- REV. FELIX GRANDA (1868-1954)

Felix Granda was born in Asturias in 1868. In his youth, he dedicated his life to the renewal of sacred artwork for the Catholic Church, responding to a threefold vocation of priesthood, art, and business. In 1891, at the age of 23, Father Granda founded the sacred art workshops of Talleres de Arte Granda in Madrid.

The altarpieces, statuary, tabernacles, reliquaries, monstrances, and sacred vessels created by its artisans earned renown worldwide for the dignity of their craftsmanship, the quality of their material, the creativity of their design, and the precision of their iconography.

Talleres de Arte Granda continues this tradition to the present day. Its sacred art is sold throughout America by Granda Liturgical Arts.

The Holy Childhood Association (HCA) is one of four Pontifical Mission Societies active in some 110 countries throughout the world. Founded in France in 1843 by Bishop Charles de Forbin-Janson, HCA helps to animate the young faithful to a universal missionary spirit and to gather support from these children for the service of the local churches of Africa, Asia, remote regions of Latin America and the Pacific Islands among the poorest of the world's children.

Annually, more than two million young people, kindergarten through eighth grade, participate in HCA-sponsored programs in the United States through Catholic schools and parish religious education programs.

HCA is unique to other organizations that assist children in the Developing World in that its primary aim is to encourage children to share their faith with children in the Developing World through their prayers, personal sacrifices and financial offerings.

Contributions to HCA are allocated to mission dioceses throughout the world according to need. This system of allocating funds helps ensure that aid is distributed fairly and that those who are most desperately in need receive enough support. HCA funds are distributed to help children in 110 countries throughout the world.

Eighty-seven percent of HCA's annual funding in the United States is used for the Church's service among children in the Developing World and to provide mission education materials to children in the United States.

Parents, guardians, parish priests, religious brothers and sisters and lay people, especially teachers and catechists, play a vital role in HCA's mission. With support from these people, children can learn about children in other countries through HCA programs and learn too the message of HCA-that children are and can be missionaries today, called to share their faith and their love, in prayer and sacrifice, with the poorest of the world's children. In addition, financial contributions from adults help to underwrite the cost of education materials for children in the United States and also help support the Church's service to children in the Developing World.
